

Shellimericks

Every family wins a free 'Shelltox' S-PLUS Aerosol.

All you have to do is to give us your limerick,
which must include a reference complimentary* to 'Shelltox'.
Here are a couple of ideas to set you thinking:

A gnat and a roach and a fly
once got so terribly high,
that at the height of their folly
they sniffed 'Shelltox', by golly!
and snuffed it without saying "bye".

That experienced old Eskimo Nell
was asked how she did it so well.
She just squirted 'Shelltox'
and the mosquitoes got pox,
and her clients SO loved the smell!

To win a free 'Shelltox' S-PLUS Aerosol for your family:

Place your limerick(s), as many as you wish, in one envelope. Address it to 'Shellimericks, c/o British Club' and put your membership number clearly on the envelope.
Collect your 'Shelltox' aerosol from the British Club office in exchange for your entry.

Only one 'Shelltox' aerosol can be awarded per family in any one month. Competition closes 30th June.

A selection of publishable limericks will be printed in the next issue of the British Club
Newsletter. The best entry, in the judgement of the sponsor, wins a free case of 'Shelltox'
S-Plus aerosols.

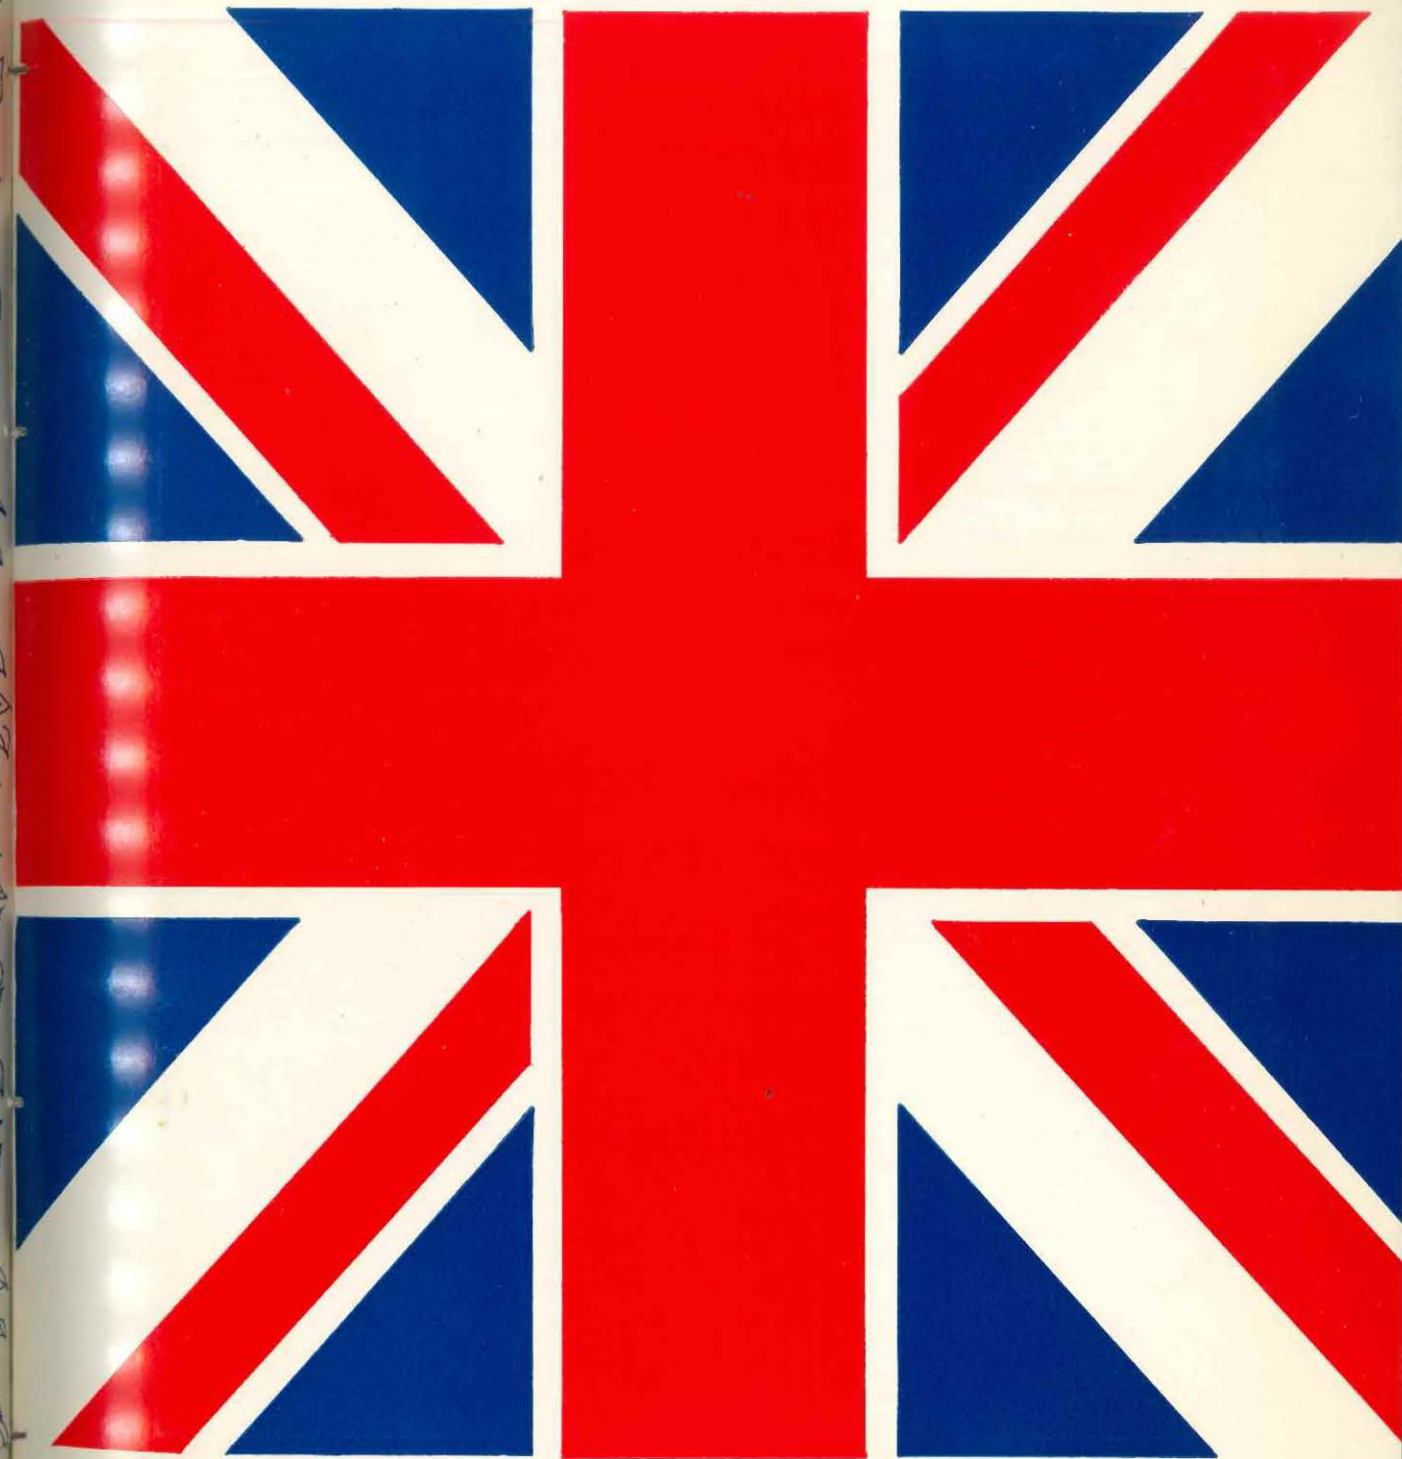

Try Shelltox.
One little touch
can save you
a hundred swats!

British Airways Concorde. Now in service on the London to Washington route. Departing London every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 1300 hrs. arriving Washington 1205 hrs. your arrival time is actually before you leave. Departing Washington every Wednesday, Friday and Sunday at 1230 hrs. and arriving London at 2135 hrs. the same day. When you step aboard Concorde, you step into the future. Concorde cruises at 1350 mph. That's a mile every three seconds. It doesn't just make flying less tiring. It makes it so quick and easy you scarcely know you've flown.

Even before your flight, exclusive Concorde ground facilities will speed up your journey still further.

As for the flight itself: well, that will be as superb as all British Airways First Class Flights.

For reservation see your travel agent. Or contact British Airways.

SHELLIMERICK CONTEST

The laureates of the City of Angels have been scratching their heads (no, Virginia, Shelltox does not cure dandruff) to produce some mighty efforts in the Shellimericks contest. Allusions to other heroes & heroines of famous limerick were many (young ladies called Dorrie, Bishops of Buckingham and several explanations of activities of London cabs). At length a panel of scented judges joined for this special occasion over a barbecue of roasted roaches (sapid & toothsome) by Bernard Stink, sat down to ponder the entries. Redolent with philosophy and full of literary significance these proved to be stimulating in the extremes. The judges were immediately struck by the strange pervading odour of romance (read sex) which lingered in the air as almost every entry was opened. There is, however, no truth in the rumour that Shelltox contains aphrodisiac scent. The "lively" field of entries gave these judges some difficulty in selecting the most worthy for publication, but in the unanimous opinion (3 1/2 stars) the best was submitted by Julia Fraser who buttoned up the competition with this gem :

The best way of undoing flies
(I beg you, avert not your eyes)
Is to spray without fuss
Some 'Shelltox' S-PLUS
You'll find every one of them dies.

Other worthy entries were received from H.J. Taylor, L14 & D16 et al. A selection of the best is reproduced :

Said the mosquito at a party most beery,
"We're now immune to these sprays, m'dearie."
But as he bit through some socks,
a waft of Shelltox
was enough to quite disprove that theory.

Have you cockroaches roaming in flocks?
Or mosquitoes that bite through your socks?
Then relax, all is well
You can send 'em to hell
With a blast from a can of 'Shelltox'.

If there's one thing that makes me ill quick
It's composing a damned limerick
But 'Shelltox' S-PLUS
Is well worth the fuss
(Excuse me, I'm going to be sick).

The spider, whose IQ was not high
Seemed to be begging to die
For quite free from alarm
He bent his right arm
And supped Shelltox instead of "Dry Fly"

Miss Muffet of popular lore
Need tremble on tuffets no more
For that many-limbed groper
Is now a no hoper
With Shelltox he can't hope to score.

There was a young girl from Devizes
Who bought Shelltox in two different sizes
One can was quite small
And cost nothing at all
And she spent her prize money on the other

There's nothing to beat a cool beer
And whisky's not too bad, I hear
But my own special pleasure
When I'm at my leisure
Is a Shelltox and soda, my dear.

CHRISTCHURCH FAIR

The annual Christ Church Fair will be staged in the grounds of the American Ambassador's residence (108 Wireless Road) on Saturday 9 July 1977 from 10.30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m.

There will be a wide variety of stalls, competitions and attractions at the Fair to suit all ages so it will really be an occasion for all the family to enjoy all the fun of the Fair.

The object of the Fair is to obtain funds to enable the Church to continue with its Outreach work which has already provided so many benefits for the Bangkok community.

DARTS SECTION

(THE LILYWHITES FINEST HOUR)

Date: Thursday 9th June 1977. Time: 9-15 p.m. Place: Rendezvous Bar, Gaysorn, Bangkok.... The strains of "Jerusalem" sung by the Lilywhite Orpheal Choir, the neck of masonic bonfires and the floater by floater verbal replay of this historic encounter.... Yes, fans, Nai V and the Chartered Bank All-stars were celebrating.

The Great Gadsden had thrown off his Pat Hobby image and with a dartful selection of the assembled Lilywhite talent had guided his team into the headlines with an exciting win over the all-Thailand champion and hitherto undefeated Rendezvous marksmen.

For the benefit of the few BC members and wives who as yet have not been bored to death by the tales of uncanny skill and steel nerves of the Lilywhite on this occasion your dartscribe will note the highlights.

Bryan Cornish laid down a healthy lead in the singles and was followed Ben Gwilliam. Excitement rose as the Lilywhites equalled and then passed their previous best score against Rendezvous when Robin Polglase beat Lek Kledpee yet again making it 3-3 going into the 1001. The team game was a moral whitewash when Bryan closed the game on double 12 when the luckless opponents were still 300-400 points away from home. 6-3 up and only one doubles win necessary - a task normally beyond the Lilywhites. At this point the astute Nai slapped an Amarit ban on his men and pored over his selections for the vital games. In the first doubles Ben and supersub Geoff Smith, in his annual game, narrowly went down and the responsibility fell on that well known twosome who for obvious reasons only play the bottom part of the board. The captain's confidence was not misplaced, the dynamic Derby duo clinched the match with a devastating 23 dart 501 which wiped out the opposition and made it 8-5. As a gesture to our opponents the final doubles was conceded in a close game, probably due to the lifting of the Amarit ban as soon as Robin got a double, avoiding the risk of whitewash and ensuring victory. Your captain lashed beer all round, Dartinis for the ladies, and that was where we came in....

The month had opened with an uninspiring away game against A.I.S. when the Lilywhites went down 6-9 to Burt Nestle and his team. The second game was a more boisterous affair, and our last appearance in the temporary bar, against Bobby's Arms or "Cyril and the Dartettes". This spirited troupe livened up the bar and caused some consternation among the older members, one of whom was later observed escorting one voluptuous dartette out of the bar - without paying the £100.- fee either (green chit of course). A great evening - wonder who won? (B.C., 11-4 says your captain).

The final game, our first in the new bar, was against archrivals B.T. Audio when we were pipped 7-8 after a disastrous 1001 and some fine darts by Ben Gwilliam.

Eight games remain to be played in the league and the Lilywhites hope to improve on their current middle of the league position. Matches are played every Thursday at 8.00 p.m. and practice sessions are held on Saturdays and Sundays at 5.00 p.m.

Comment of the month: "Couldn't have lost to nicer bunch of**!"

FIRE - FIRE - FIRE - FIRE - FIRE - FIRE - FIRE - FIRE

The BRK Electronics Products of Combustion Detector can detect fire at its earliest stage - prior to flames appearing - by continuously monitoring the air to see whether it contains products of combustion and if so sounding a loud horn - sufficient to wake sleepers through closed doors.

One monitor can protect about 900 square feet, takes about 5 minutes to install, and is completely self contained - no wires to run!

The battery life is typically one year and when the end of this life is approaching the unit will give a short BEEP. This BEEP will be repeated initially about once an hour and eventually every minute for up to ten days warning you that the battery needs replacing.

Size: About 7" x 7" and 2" deep.

GOLF SECTION

A party of 37 mad dogs and Englishmen struggled round the Rose Garden on 5th June in conditions described by the "old sweats" as the hottest they had experienced on the golf course and the major winners at the end of the day were indisputably the local Bangkok breweries. However, it was not a tale of woe for every competitor and indeed some had cause for celebration particularly Alistair Lapping who won the competition with a net score of 68.

This performance was all the more creditable as he had returned from leave the day before and apart from suffering from jet lag his previous game had been over Lahinch in Ireland where he had to endure rain driven horizontal by the wind clad in waterproofs, sixty five woolly jumpers, red flannel "coms" and the inevitable Irish wellies. He had to fight tenaciously for his victory however and eventually only won after a countback from that veritable Peter Pan of the links, Tommy Madar. Tommy played with cold mechanical efficiency for the first nine holes which he covered in a net score of 30 but then, sick with worry at the thought of a drastic handicap reduction and a subsequent loss of income, lost his concentration and let it slip over the back nine.

The malicious and petty minded rumourmongers who have been "putting it about" that our venerable captain's recent lack of form is really the start of an irreversible decline brought about principally by his age and life-style were struck dumb by his 83 proving that action speaks louder than words.

Matthew Bucknall scored 34 on the first nine but on the home stretch lost his grip literally as well as metaphorically. On the 16th tee his club left his hands and flew through the air with such picturesque and parabolic pulchritude, outdistancing his drive by at least one hundred yards, that it could not have been thrown in a fit of petty pique.

News from the front line

These notes are being hurriedly penned as I return with the tattered remnants of the British Club contingent as they make a disorderly withdrawal down the Super Highway from Don Muang. Napoleon's retreat from Moscow was a sinecure compared with this. They are in complete disarray and it is heartbreaking to see their leader. He sits as in a trance, shaking his head in disbelief with the tears coursing down his cheeks. Can he inject some fighting spirit into his demoralised troops before they engage the Navy at Sattahip on 2nd July? Perhaps miracles are still possible. Watch this space for further developments.
