From THE EDITOR

The usual mid-year exodus has taken place and amongst those leaving Bangkok was the entire Outpost Editorial team and Production Staff. Life goes on however and this somewhat diminished edition of Outpost is being cobbled together by the Manager, Committee, and office staff. Apologies if it fails to match recent high standards.

Since the editors took all future articles with them, we are somewhat short of copy for the month and I thought I might take the opportunity to reflect a little on the progress, or otherwise, of the club at the mid-year point and one third into the current Committee's term of office.

We were very fortunate when we took up our duties in April to inherit a Club physically in better shape probably than at any other time in its history. Eighteen months of disruptive construction suddenly ended and the Club was endowed with an attractive new poolside sala, flood-lit tennis courts and a new car park which did a great deal to enhance the appearance of the entire premises. However we also inherited a sizable debt due on loans raised for the tennis court and sala improvements, and declining trends in usage and membership which had been apparent for some time but aggravated by conditions prevailing during the construction period. This year was always going to be a challenge!

Given our outstanding debts the Committee's priorities from the very first have been to increase membership and usage whilst carrying out only essential repairs and modest improvements to the club facilities. We have attempted to present a more informal and friendly club atmosphere than may have prevailed in the past, and to 'sell' the club more aggressively than has been done before. A priority has been to attract new Associate Members within the mandate given to the Committee at the Extraordinary General Meeting of the Club back in July 1985.

So far we can claim some limited success. Many people have commented on the more welcoming atmosphere of the Club and much of this is due to the undoubted success of our new format, very social, New Members nights; the regular, varied.

low key entertainment programme layed on by Richard Hopkins; and the good support being given to the Club by our enthusiastic Soccer and Rugby sections and the rapidly emerging, rejuvenated Tennis Section. We have of course had some criticism (although not all as tough as Mr. Jinjok!) and we have even been accused of 'lowering standards'. I would challenge anyone to substantiate such an accusation.

The 'New Blood' campaign has been disliked by some but after all the best Ad campaigns are always the controversial ones. It is a revelation to have British Club Membership as a social discussion topic! The fact is that if the British Club is going to survive then something positive has to be done, and quickly. Increasing competition elsewhere and the changing nature of the expatriate community will finish us off if we simply sit back and wait for things to get better.

We have attracted a lot of new members in the last few months and our Associate Membership is now over 70 for the first time. Unfortunately it has also been a disastrous period for people leaving Bangkok and we have had to do extremely well just to stand still membership-wise. The financial results so far are, frankly, disappointing. During the first six months of the year we have experienced a small cash flow deficit of around £ 80,000 at a time when we need to be generating a significant surplus to finance our loan repayments. We still face an enormous challenge!

Whilst we are reviewing our operating costs and management for possible economies, our priority of looking for new members and usage has become even more urgent. When the absent masses return after the break we will continue our campaign which will include a new Club brochure and increased PR for the Club. We would be neglecting our duties however if we did not seriously address the present sticky financial position and, much as we would like to avoid it, we may be forced to ask for a modest increase in subscriptions and entrance fees (These have not increased since 1981) to cover the short term cash-flow situation. Any increases would be kept to the minimum possible and presented to the Membership through an Extraordinary General Meeting in the usual way.

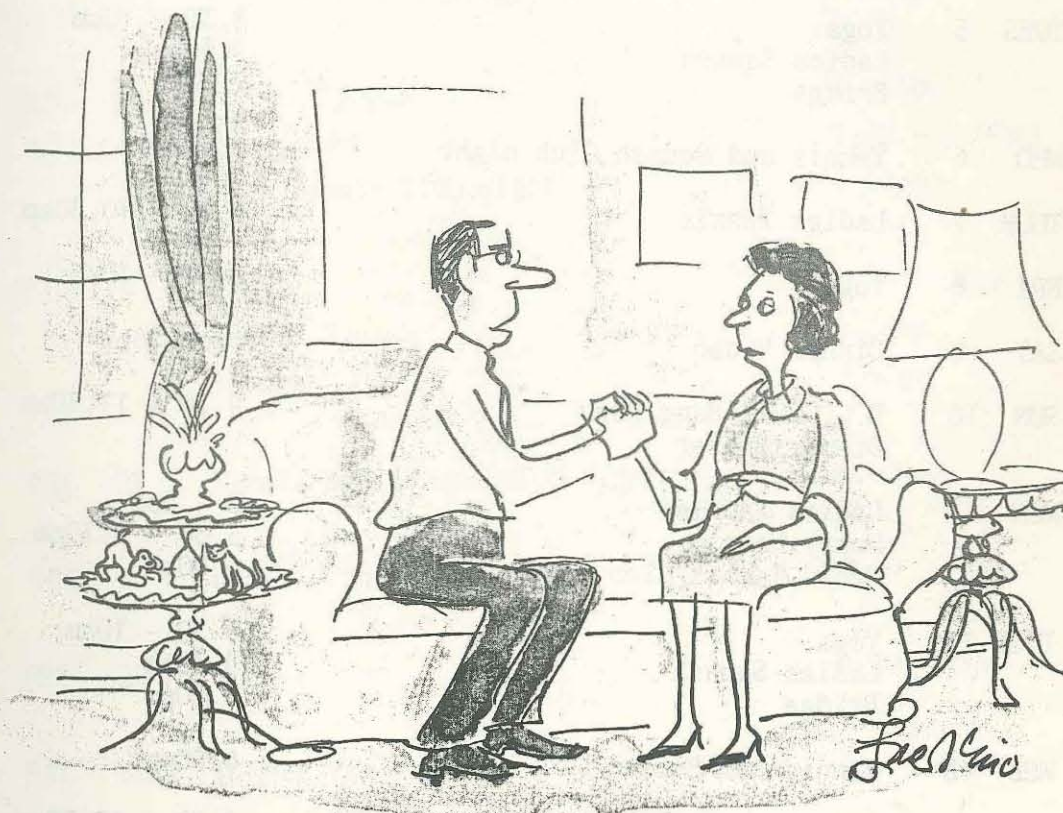

The Committee is concerned about the long term future of the Club and will be seriously considering this over the coming months. Our present loan of £ 2.5 million is a modest one when set against the enormous assets represented by the property the Club owns, and indeed amounts to only £ 5000 per member. Furthermore, if we were successful in increasing

Club Membership from the current level of around 500 to 550 or 600 our present cash-flows problems would be resolved. However, this has been the position for years, and with expatriate trends against us, serious thought is needed for a longer term solution.

Meanwhile we have a very pleasant and attractive Club with excellent facilities, good food, active sports sections and regular social activities. Please use it! If every member spent an extra £ 100 per week at the Club there would be no need to increase fees or subscriptions and our loan would be payed off on schedule.

Try us! Even the Silom Road works are now nearly completed. It's never been better!

Jack Dunford
Chairman.

To The Editor :

Madam,

I accept That my contribution to last month's Outpost was, as you describe it, a "prod at our new committee" - and my earnest hope is that it will wake them up.

My comments, however, were neither "hilarious" and nor could they described as "tongue-in-cheek" except by one so obviously ill-informed as yourself. I humbly suggest, Madam, you confine your pronouncements to the Children's Swimming Results, and concentrate your efforts on improving the grammar and spelling in this magazine, both of which are currently abysmal.

Yours sincerely,

Jingjok

To the Chairman of the British Club:

Sir,

I understand that you are putting forth an "explanation" of your Committee's aberrative decisions in this month's Outpost. Let me assure you that no amount of back-tracking or wooly-headed rationale will justify the ridiculous changes you have made. Let me also remind you that while you have gained some support from air-brained junior Members, the thinking majority is immutably opposed to your schemes. May I further advise that while your cheap, tasteless "Give Blood" publicity campaign, has generated some new members, I fear we're more likely to end up with blood poisoning (or worse !) - to use your tawdry metaphor - than your much-touted transfusion.

And finally, Mr. Dunford, may I say how eagerly I was looking forward to a letter from you about the antics of the Wild Bunch. I expected you to admit that you are primarily responsible for leading them in their folly, and this you have done. However, I also expected you to have the decency to bring to an honourable conclusion the entire, unhappy episode, and this you have not done.

I, and many others in the Club, await your next, and final, missive with great anticipation.

Yours sincerely,

Fingjok

Sir,

May I take issue with you ?

You presume too much: I am not a "stuffed shirt", I am not a Scotsman, and I sincerely hope our generations are separated by as many years as possible. I see that you welcome the "corporate dementia" Of the committee; I'm not surprised, seeing they did re-admit you. I certainly would not have done.

Confident, Sir, that you and not I represent the majority of new members we would well do without, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

Dear David,

I would like to thank you and your staff for making our dinner party on July 11 a most successful and enjoyable function. The meal was excellent and the service by Khun Narong and the girls both of the food and from the bar was efficient and attentive. Our overseas guests were very impressed and certainly enjoyed the evening as evidenced by the noise level in the snooker room after the meal.

Many thanks and best regards,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Gary,

On behalf of the Rhinos I wish to thank you, Jim Howard, Buster and all the other members of the British Club rugby section who did so much to make our inaugural tour such an overwhelming success. Your hospitality was quite superb and was certainly far more than we expected. Although we are only a touring side, should the British Club ever think of coming to Hong Kong, we would be delighted to return some of the hospitality you showed us in Bangkok.

From the Rhinos point of view, the tour was an enormous success and I am confident that it has ensured the survival of the club and that Bangkok was the first of many tours to come - speaking of which, you and Jim Howard are honorary Rhinos and will, of course, be invited on any future tours. I meant to leave you a rugby jersey at the British Club before we left but in my booze-befuddled state I forgot. If you or Jim or anyone else is coming up to Hong Kong in the near future then I'll get it to you. There are also some photos you may be interested in seeing and paying a lot of money for the negatives.

Once again, Gary, thanks for a terrific tour.

Dear Jack,

As we are leaving Thailand in early July, I regret that we must aggravate the current haemorrhage!

Membership of the British Club has contributed greatly to the enjoyment of our stay in Bangkok and we would like to thank Committee and Staff for all their efforts.

May we wish the Club every success in the future.

Yours sincerely,

THE JF PACIFIC INCOME TRUST

An Impressive and Consistent Performance Record.

Under the management of Jardine Fleming, the JF Pacific Income Trust continues to provide investors with both a favourable yield and capital growth potential with low risk in the Pacific region.

JF PACIFIC INCOME TRUST
Performance (with Income) Vs Indices (US$)

The Trust's policy is to invest principally in bonds and warrants convertible into the equities of the Pacific region. The Trust can use borrowings to enhance returns.

Since the Trust's inception in 1980, there has been a 253.2% growth of its net asset value in US dollar terms over 5 years.

The Trust has regularly outperformed its rivals and has shown much lower volatility. It has also maintained a much higher income than most Far Eastern Trusts: the current estimated dividend yield of the Trust is approx 3%.

While we believe investment in this Trust could be very rewarding, the price of shares in the Trust may go down as well as up.

Name: Middy Dunford Class: Junior 2 Black
Date of Birth: 26 July 1982 Age: Nearly 4 years

Barking: : Middy has a strong little bark. She is very enthusiastic and always tries very hard. Is especially good barking at gas delivery men.

Eating : Not one of Middy's strong points. Tends to gabble and make slurpy noises. Loves milk and Chocolate buttons but does not like cabbage. Must try harder.

Sleeping : Very good. Can sleep on either side with one eye open. Doesn't snore too much and never wets her doggy basket.

Guarding : Quite good. Very good at chasing delivery men and cats but never catches them. Must get out of habit of sometimes rolling over to have her tummy cubbed by complete strangers.

Exercises : A bit erratic. Tends to go bonkers and run round in circles with her ears back. Useless at press ups but great at doing the splits.

Personality : Usually a pleasant happy little doggy with a friendly personality. Attacking little children and biting their arms off is an annoying habit at times - but who cares about stupid little kids anyway.

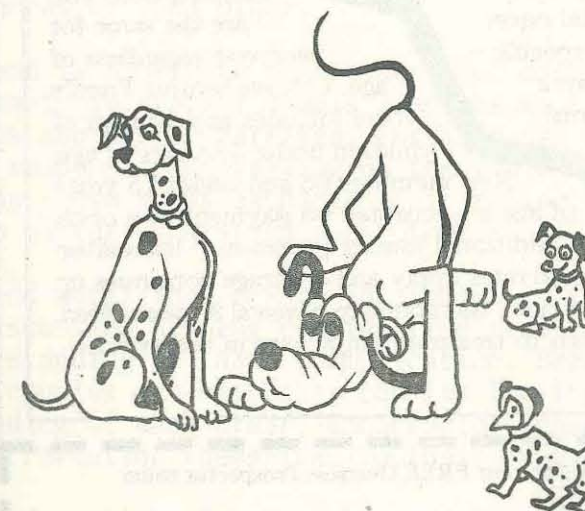

General : For a dog with no pedigree whatsoever Middy does well. She can be a bit of nuisance when she keeps wanting 'to go' on the Doggy Bus and has been known to 'do it' on the Ambassador's Driveway - but this is only a little (if smelly) problem and Middy is a lovely pupil.

"MARRIAGE ENCOUNTER"

Two " Marriage Encounter " weekends are being planned at a leading Bangkok Hotel in November and any couples interested in improving their marriages are invited to attend.

The weekends last from Friday night to Sunday evening. Families are left behind (the organizers can help with this) and couples spend the weekend together, away from the worries, distractions and tensions of daily routine, concentrating only on each other.

The emphasis is on communication; to deepen it for those already with good communication; to improve it for those with poor communication; and to open communication for those without it as a means of restoring or re-awakening their love and awareness of each other.

The weekend is a private experience. Two married couples and a protestant ministerial couple lead the weekend giving talks on various aspects of marriage. Participants write down their personal responses and feeling on the topics and in the privacy of their own rooms exchange their reflections in an effort to better understand each other.

The weekend work! They create an atmosphere for frank and loving discussion helping couples find trust, confidence and understanding in their communication. Between private sessions couples can see other couples looking for deeper understanding of each other, encouraging those who have been afraid of revealing themselves to their spouse.

The weekends will be 7th November and 14th to 16th November. If you are interested call Laurie and Marie Longford (391-4195) for registration forms and details.

CRICKET

If you have recovered from the shock of having last month's cricket report jump out at you when you opened your July "Outpost", you will perhaps now be relieved to know that this report contains no further account of disreputable deeds done in dingy dives, but is instead a mere summing-up, statistically, of the season's performances on the field. The only cricketing encounter of any note since our last edition has, in any case, only been a small British Club participation, in its normal brotherly fashion, in a boozy send-off to a couple of old friends from the sports club side. Oh, and perhaps I failed to mention last time, but the BC Cricket Section tennis team was narrowly beaten 5-Q by the RBSC Cricket Section tennis team one Saturday morning not too long ago. Actually it was't as close as the score suggests.

Also since last month's edition Craig Price has been awarded the Thailand cricket league Batsman of the year trophy. Our congratulations to him. This is fitting recognition for a great season.

Here are the final statistics for the 1985/86 season :

27 players played for us in 16 matches, a larger number than normal but covering a large number of one-off appearances, particularly over the New year and Easter periods when we really had to scrape the barrel (Viz Buster and a busted baseball player) The fact that two of these one-off appearers proceeded to break the British Club record for the eighth wicket (39 by Dunne and Williamson) is in no way a reflection on the regulars.

We finished fourth of seven in the 50-over league, and third of eight in the 30-over league. Our top score of the season was 281-7 off fifty overs against the post, the top score against us was 275-5 off 50 overs by RBSC. Our lowest league total of the season was 110 against RBSC in the 30 over match, but we also had that dreadful 54 all out with twelve men in the early-season friendly against Chiangmai. Three sides were bowled out for under 100, the Indians for 86, Chiangmai for 88, and the Thais for 94. Craig Price topped our batting averages by a considerable margin, with 54.30 in all matches and 60.22 in the league. He scored 543 runs, nearly twice as many as his nearest rival John Bertacco. Nick White and Terry Adams also scored over 200 runs in the season, but it was Chris Cowper, who appeared in only four matches, who grabbed second place in the averages, with 114 off three completed innings.

On the bowling side, Nick White bowled a massive 144.4 overs at under three runs an over, while every other regular bowler yielded well over four an over; but he was beaten into second place in the averages by Neville Clissold, whose 22 wickets cost only 13 runs each, compared with Nick's 29 at 14.83.

Alistair Rider managed 12 victims behind the stumps this season, while Neville Clissold was the best outfielder, with 7 catches.

Best batting performance of the year was Craig's 151 not out against AIT. Best stand was Craig and Terry's 108 against the Post. Best bowling was Neville's 6 for 53 against Chiangmai, though special mention should be made of Nick's 4 for 5 off 4 overs against Chiangmai, and Jack's 3 for 5 off two overs against AIT.

We were bowled 52 times, caught 50 times, run out 10 times, lbw'd 9 times, stumped 6 times and hit our wicket once.

Twixt season news is much as usual. With Mac Sayer and Neville Clissold leaving during last season and John Bertacco at the end of it, our bowling line-up has been further decimated by the sudden and unexpected departure of Pat Paterson. However experience counsels against panic and two newcomers to the BC bar are already pushing their claims for fame next season. Happily one of these is an Aussie so Craig Price won't have to take all the blame for everything that goes wrong after all. Nets start in November. Watch this space.

LADIES' GOLF

We are now down to the hard core of summer golfers since most of our group is away on leave. So far we have been lucky with the weather and have not yet lost any matches due to rain. Lets hope it lasts.

We have lost several of our good supporters this year and I hope that anyone who is starting up will join us. I know there are several ladies busy with lessons. We look forward to seeing you out with us very soon. We welcome Joyce Tyler who has joined our Tuesday group. Most of us know Joyce from FLOGG - so no introductions are necessary. Happy to have you with us Joyce.

Three of our ladies Joan, Dolores and Mo entered the Malaysian Ladies Open in Kuala Lumpur last month. This proved to be a very enjoyable week socially, but the golf could have been a little better! Congratulations to Joan who made the cut in the gross tournament on the third day. Dolores is now on her training for three more Opens in Malaysia and Singapore!! Margaret is also entering the latter in September. Good luck ladies! Let's win a prize this time!

D. Tonkin and M. Rattray beat G.S. Lim and A. Gui 6-2, 6-3

Mixed Doubles:

Mal Chessman and Stephen Chappell lost to Jenny Boey and Sonny Yap 5-7, 3-6

At the conclusion of the tournament, lunch was held in the club main dining room during which time mementoes were exchanged between the two club's conveners and team captains.
