For Our Experience In The Water Industry

In today's world water is no longer an inexpensive commodity in abundant supply. It has become an increasingly expensive raw material with a technology of its own. Kent have been involved world wide with water management, since that industry first appeared in its present form. Today computers, telemetry and on-line analysis are used in the latest schemes for measuring and controlling supply and demand, monitoring quality and dealing with possible sources of pollution.

For the Metropolitan Water Works Authority's Treatment Plant at Bangkok and its associated pumping stations, Kent has supplied complete instrumentation together with full installation and commissioning of the systems. At Bangkok apart from measuring the rate of flow, reservoir level, pressure, etc., we have also designed the Filter Backwash Sequencing Control System and fabricated all instrument panels. For the various distribution pumping stations, the inlet pressure, pump status, and outlet rate of flow are presented locally and transmitted via Kent Dataflex Telemetry System to be displayed at Bangkok.

Hypochlorinator Series 44-747 are used all over the country as well as at most Water Treatment Plants built for the Provincial Waterworks Division.

NEWSLETTER FOR OCTOBER 1978

At the beginning of September we welcomed to the Club a group of tennis players from the Singapore CC. We hope that visits of sports teams from and to other Clubs in the Far East will become a part of the Club programme once we have established affiliations. The latest news on these is on page 2.

We apologise to the Dartists for our failure to correctly acknowledge with glea (and surprise) the Section's victory in July over the OESA. The Billiards Section have been asked to handover the tin of brasso.

Evening business in the Restaurant has begun to pick up and the very reasonably priced wine specials are proving popular. Details of this month's wines specials are given on page 7. The fortnightly buffet curry in the Clubhouse is being continued and a special curry buffet is being offered at the Poolside each Sunday in October.

The date of the Beerfest has been advanced to Saturday 28 October and so will be the first of the end-of-year events. Full details will be issued shortly.

SWIMMING SECTION

Now that schools have resumed and most home-leave finished we are settling to some serious training again each Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 4.30. Our excellent coach, Meike de Heer is present to show the children their faults in strokes and introduce new skills such as tumble turns and racing dives, and Mothers are still diligently counting laps for those working towards their 25,000 metre and 50,000 metre badges.

The gala on 4 September was well attended and we were aided by the participation of overseas students. Our next gala will be Sunday 1st October when all swimmers will be welcome.

During the holidays Meike trained a large group of children ready to be examined for the Amateur Swimming Association Personal Survival awards. Many hours were spent by Meike and the children and a high success rate was achieved. Sincere thanks to Meike for the training and to Philip Musgrave for his help with the actual examinations, and congratulations to the children.

TENNIS SECTION

On 1 September despite a heavy midday storm the Club fielded a team against the Singapore CC. The visitors had come to Bangkok to play their annual match against the RBSC and we accepted the offer of a preliminary knock up on the Friday afternoon. Surprisingly the courts quickly soaked up the moisture and our Club players were not too rusty and were able to enjoy the afternoons play.

As there now appears to be more interest in the game than for some time a programme has been made to the end of the year which will include organised tennis each month, match-play with the RBSC and possibly a ladder or league. The ladder/league will not be introduced until the weather improves but it is hoped that some play will be possible on the scheduled dates which are:-

Sunday 1 October	- Get together	2.30 p.m.
Sunday 15 October	- Match v RBSC (at RBSC)	2.30 p.m.
	(Hard Courts)
Sunday 29 October	- Tennis Day	2.30 p.m.
Sunday 12 November	- Match v RBSC (Home)	2.30 p.m.

Full details have been sent to all known players. If you are interested and wish to be kept informed please contact the Manager, who is acting as interim coordinator.

The Colgate Tennis Patrons Classic 1978 will be played in Hong Kong from 7 to 12 November. Thirty two of the worlds top professional players will be competing. We understand that Cathay Pacific is happy to arrange travel and accommodation near the tournament site for those interested in this classic event.

GOLF SECTION

On the 27 August a select B.C. group of front line golfers made a daring sortie on the R.T.A.F. at their home course. Battle commenced at 7.30 a.m. with exploding divots as both sides started to dig-in at both 1st & 10th tees. Throughout the morning, the Britishers unperturbed by the opposition's local knowledge of which drink huts had the coldest beer, kept a stiff left arm and made a charge to the sound of "fore". Although the R.T.A.F. made a galant effort, pincer movements from both sides of the fairway by most B.C. golfers unsettled the opponents who could not get their "B51's" into action. The last group in, somehow knew who the victors were as the theme from "Nellie the Cripple" drifted from the clubhouse and brought nostalgic tears to their eyes.

The result was a win for B.C. golfers over the R.T.A.F. In appreciation of the enjoyable lunch provided by the R.T.A.F., where prizes to both sides were presented, the British Club offered to sponsor a caddies competition which was accepted. A very informal and enjoyable day was had by all.

Boyd Cup

With a stirring performance of 43 Stableford points, Magnus Stirling won the much coveted Boyd Cup. J. Weymouth was 2nd with 38 points and P. Farquharson third with 36 points. The best front nine winner was D. Watson while R. Allen won the back nine.

U.K. TAXATION
PROPERTY OWNERSHIP BY THE NON-RESIDENT

Part 2

The tax repercussions of people letting their homes in the United Kingdom while working overseas require very careful consideration. Part 1 of this article (published in the July edition) comprised an outline of the effect of property ownership in the U.K. on residence status. This, Part 2, examines those repercussions.

Unlike some other sources of income, there are no means of claiming exemption from U.K. tax on rental income received by non-residents. At the end of a financial year an account must be prepared, and if, after deduction of allowable expenses, a profit is shown, that sum will be liable to tax at the basic rate. In cases where the income is particularly large, higher tax rates could apply to the profits; indeed if the amount exceeds 1,700 there may also be some investment income surcharge to pay. In working out the assessable income, mortgage interest can be deducted from the net profit.

The method of tax collection depends entirely on whether the property is let through an agent or not. In both cases an account must be submitted to the Inland Revenue each April. If an agent is involved collecting the rent, tax is usually payable in two instalments, a payment on account in January, and settlement of the balance after April when the final figures are agreed. If the tenant pays the rent direct to the owner or the owner's bank, the tenant is required to deduct tax at the basic rate, currently 33%, from the gross rent and pay this over to the Inland Revenue on the owner's behalf each week, month or quarter. The landlord must then wait until the end of the tax year to submit the claim for repayment in respect of the allowable expenses incurred and any mortgage interest paid.

Often an agent feels obliged to make some reserve for the tax liability, as, in law, he, and not the landlord, is responsible for paying the tax. However, if the agent accepts that the expenses will virtually cover the rent, it is normally possible to agree on a nominal figure of reserve. Estate Agents are obliged to report to their local tax offices, details of any rental income collected by them.

Moving on to the question of Capital Gains Tax, a person who is neither resident nor ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom is automatically exempt from this tax, but once he returns he becomes chargeable to this levy. However, the U.K. resident is entitled to exemption on his main residence and, in certain circumstances, so are those who, due to living abroad, were unable to use the U.K. property as a normal home. If it can be shown that before the property was first let and after the last tenant left, the house was owner occupied, and in the intervening period either the husband or wife was abroad engaged on full-time employment, there will be no capital gains tax payable on the eventual sale of the house even if the owner is regarded as resident in the United Kingdom during the year of sale -- provided there have been no other properties qualifying for exemption during the period of ownership. There is no minimum period during which the house must be owner occupied before and after overseas residence. And it is not even necessary to re-occupy the house on returning if it can be shown that the requirements of new employment in the United Kingdom make it difficult for the owner to use the property again before sale.

In normal circumstances, then, the letting of a property while the owner works abroad should not preclude a claim for exemption from Capital Gains Tax.

This article has, of necessity, dealt with the normal situation. There are, to be sure, many variations which can complicate the tax position, for instance the ownership of more than one property and the provision of non-sterling loans to assist in house purchase. It is wise to tackle such problems in advance. Property owners concerned about their position will be well advised to obtain professional guidance before returning to the United Kingdom.

U.K. TAXATION

If you are concerned now, or will be in the future, with U.K. taxation you cannot afford to be without the services of FRY's who have specialised in taxation since 1898.

Our work embraces the whole field of Income Tax, Capital Gains Tax and Capital Transfer Tax. Our experience in dealing with questions of Double Taxation Relief and the special problems of the overseas resident — particularly at the difficult time of retirement to U.K. — is renowned.

DARTS NEWS

"All the news that's fit to print and some that isn't" is the editorial policy of the Lilywhite press. Last month we found ourselves in conflict with the B.C. News as to the sporting results. Rest assured, sports fans, the clasey or classy RBA Cautopher trophy was not conceded to the OESA and, if not pawned, is secure in the Lilywhite vaults.

Dedicated to the truth as we are we have to record that your favourite team stumbled along the road to the News of the Darts World Championships and in fact have yet to win a match or even many points in the current newly started league. Despite the record enrollment of almost 400 who answered the call to the Amarit and now appear on the roster submitted to skeptical league officials, we have barely managed to scrape a sixsome for both league games played to date.

Our first fixture was at home to Hobson's Choice who had little difficulty outplaying the undertrained Lilywhites both in the match and in the rashly arranged beer game. Mike Dutton and your scribe picked up 2 points in the singles but Hobson's coasted through the doubles into an unassailable lead. The triples were split and Hobson's reserves diplomatically allowed the B.C. to pick up a consolation point in the team game. The final scoreline was 12-5.

The next game, against a rejuvenated AIS, at their place (Our Place) was even more dartastraphic. The BC not so sharpshooters managed only 2 points out of the 17 at stake, Roy Regan and Captain Took winning their singles. Finishing doubles were again in short supply - your scribe losing his singles from a seemingly impregnable situation. Come to think of it, I was jabbed with an umbrella while waiting for my throw....

Between the two league matches the long-awaited squash/darts challenge was held. A special action squad of the feared Dartan Army, sometimes known as the El Fatter Gorillas, stormed the squash courts determined to upset Johnny Weymouth and the Squash Pistols, the infamous punk darts group. Following their not entirely unexpected defeat on the courts (146-82) the dartists revealed the velvet hand within the iron glove and gracefully conceded the boardplay too, by 122½-97½. The full classified results will not be published here, due to pressure of space as usual and to protect the guilty. A large and vocal crowd had assembled to witness the epic, and unlikely to be repeated, encounter and it turned out to be one of the livelier evenings in the bar, about 50 revellers still going strong at midnight. For some the match didn't finish till breakfast and the only winners were Amarit Brewery and, hopefully, the Club.

The Lilywhite weather centre reports rain for the next month. Sport starved members are advised to watch the noticeboard for details and to partake of some dartistic pigbristle persiflage on Thursday evenings. The Club's dartboards are mounted above the expected water level and the Lilywhites have yet to be saved by a rain - stopped - play decision.

Lilywhite comment of the month: "I always aim at a particular double when trying to start, but I'm not sure which one".
