INDEPENDENT FINANCIAL ADVICE

From the Editor

With the hideous thought that there's only 71 shopping days left until Christmas, you can already see signs of increased activity around the Club. After all, it's only a couple of months a year that the Management News section introducing Club events is more than two pages long! Plenty in store for the festive season covering music, sport, theatre and loud noises, so make sure you sign up/fax early to guarantee your reservations, tickets, seats and/or chances to win.

On the 13th of this month is the Inter Section Sports Day, that jamboree of sports sections pitting their wits against each other in what always turns out to be an exhausting but fun day. Last year's contestants and adjudicators will have fond memories of sliding around ankle-deep on the remains of what had been a pristine back lawn, but with the lack of rain so far we may escape the full delights of a mudbath this year. So contact your sports section committee or anyone else who seems organised and get together a team of six, with a minimum of two ladies, and a couple of adjudicators and put your best foot forward for your section.

In this issue are the long-awaited photos of Barry with coconut boobs from the successful Caribbean nights in Lords late August, following hot on the heels of his spangled extravaganza during the Middle East food fest. Early next month there will be an Italian food promotion, so I am now taking all suggestions as to what, as who and how Barry should dress up in order to represent the best - or worst - of Italian culture. The best will be printed in the Christmas Outpost but remember, they must be feasible; any calls for Ciccolina or Gina Lollobrigida will be disqualified.

We also have a fascinating report on the modelling exploits of Nicola and Danielle Addy, who were whisked off to Koh Samui for a few days of luxury while on a photoshoot for the London-based Telegraph Colour Library. There's some pictures of the BWG luncheon in Lords, two poems and the recipe this month comes from the Caribbean food promotion.

Finally, I would like to wish our resident poetess, Trixie Brann, and husband Mike good luck for the future as they leave Thailand at the end of this month for Cyprus. Maybe they could found a club with which to establish reciprocal rights with the British Club!

From the Manager

By now most members will have returned from their holidays to far flung corners of the globe and will be settling into their normal routines. October is the start of the busy season at the Club with numerous events taking place between now and the end of the year.

Thomas Bain - General Manager

Things start with the music quiz on 11th October, followed by the Rugby Section Annual Ball on 12th October and on the following day, Sunday 13th October, is the Intersection Sports Day. On Saturday 26th October there will be a Children's Halloween party; you will be able to see "Relatively Speaking", an Alan Ayckbourn play performed by players from The London Globe Theatre, on Thursday 31st October and Friday 1st November, while the traditional Guy Fawkes celebrations will once again take place at the Club on Sunday 3rd November. This will be closely followed by a folk concert by the popular English musician Vin Garbutt on Tuesday 5th November and the next food promotion, featuring Italian cuisine, on Friday 8th and Saturday 9th November. The trip to the elephant round-up in Surin will take place on the weekend of the 15th and 16th of November and, to round off, the Thai festival Loy Krathong will take place on Saturday 23rd November.

Looking forward to December, among numerous other events, there will be the Christmas Ball on 14th December and the New Year's river trip on 31st December. You can see there is a busy schedule ahead. To avoid disappointment please book in advance for any event you wish to attend.

The new security gates will be operational soon. It will be necessary for all members to obtain a new membership card, which will be supplied free of charge. Children 14 and over may have their own cards if they wish to enter the premises unaccompanied but parents should realise that this will also give signing rights to any child issued with a card. Please bring a passport size photo and a specimen signature card (for each person) to the office and we will arrange for a new card to be issued.

Mark

Mark Prothero:

Born in Zambia, schooled and resident in Hong Kong for 15 years and then onto Dubai and "all over SE Asia", Mark has just landed here for a two-year stint with Hongkong Bank. His wife Tessa, a teacher, was still in UK on the night. Mark lists his sports as golf, squash, rugby and diving while Tessa plays netball and enjoys socialising.

Paul and Samina Hand

The second of the Hongkong Bank crowd, Paul is Manager of the Treasury and Capital Markets. He and Samina arrived a couple of months ago with daughters Antonia, 3, and Alexandra, 2 months. Paul plays golf and used to row and Samina would like to learn golf and tennis while she's here but used to ride; Paul's also a bit of a computer buff.

Samina and Paul

Eric Wolfe and Elizabeth Reid

Eric is with Thai Farmer's Bank and Elizabeth works at the Canadian Embassy in the Commercial Economic section; Eric lists his main hobby as jazz followed by taking antibiotics (!) and his sports include tennis, squash, road hockey and cricket - indeed, Elizabeth is a "cricket widow" while Eric says her main hobby is "reading glamour mags which cost at least Bt. 200"!

Eric and Elizabeth

Steve Renshaw

Bangkok is Steve's second posting after a spell in Ibadan, Nigeria, and he's here as the Managing Director of Zeneca Agrochemicals Asiatic Ltd. Steve is a golfer while his wife, Barbara, plays "basic tennis". They have two children, James 9 and Kathryn 6, both at Patana, and their hobby is travelling.

Ian is the sporting one, playing hockey, cricket, rugby, golf and squash as Charlotte prefers running. They have a daughter, Grace, who is two years old.

Julian Lipman

Julian is an actuary (reputedly one of the world's most boring professions) with AIA yet he is far from dull, holding the record for the fastest Sydney harbour tunnel car race at 240 km/hour and other mad feats demonstrating a death wish! 28 year old Julian hopes to be here indefinitely, and enjoys the considerably less hazardous swimming, golf, squash and tennis.

Julian

Rory Stuart

Caption:South African Rory is an Associate Director at Price Waterhouse here; he's 32, single and looking for a spouse and has about five years here to find one, obviously unsuccessful in his previous postings in the USA, the UK and Hong Kong! Tucking into his food is Haydn, a security specialist with Thai British Security Printing. Both Haydn and wife Maria have served many years with the volunteer fire brigade and as scout leaders down under; Haydn would like to try golf and squash instead of Aussie rules, surfing, rally driving and bush-walking. They have two grown children in Australia.

Relatively Speaking

On Thursday 31st October and Friday 1st November the British Club once again plays host to the London Globe Theatre Company during their Asian tour of Hong Kong, Singapore and Bangkok when they stage the hit play "Relatively Speaking" in the Surawong Room.

The cast performing Alan Ayckbourn's popularly-reviewed comedy includes Charles Collingwood and Judy Bennett, more famously known as Brian Aldridge and Shula Hebden from BBC's "The Archers", as well as Natalie Bohm and Nigel Miles-Thomas. The play is a delicious comedy full of confusions and misunderstandings with a web of marital intrigues unfolding as a young woman tries to pass off her older ex-lover as her father with disastrous consequences. The evening of Dinner Theatre promises to be enjoyable and memorable.

The Doctor's Note Book

The tropics: The term evokes images of hot and humid jungles teeming with animal and insect life that seem more conducive to Indiana Jones-style adventure than to business. But business in the tropics is booming, and increasing numbers of businessmen and other professionals are travelling to, and working in, the tropics. Rapid advances have been made in some countries to control or eliminate the sources of infectious diseases traditionally linked to tropical areas but significant risks remain in a large portion of the tropical region, where the climate and inadequate public health combine to promote the spread of tropical diseases.

Mosquito-borne illnesses

One of the most stubborn public health problems is the control of mosquitoes, which thrive in the tropics. At best, they are an irritating nuisance; at worst, bearers of deadly disease. The most common diseases carried by mosquitoes are malaria and dengue fever.

Dr Lyndon Laminack
Area Medical Director
AEA International

Less common are leishmaniasis and encephalitis.

It is a good idea to take anti-malaria pills when in the tropics, but you should check with your doctor about which type to take. The choice of prophylactic drug will depend on the area you are visiting, the length of stay, and other factors such as age, occupation, allergies, etc.

Perhaps the best prevention against mosquito-borne illness is to avoid being bitten by them. Use an insect repellent, preferably with DEET (diethyl toluamide). Scents and dark clothing may attract mosquitoes. Wear long sleeves and long pants after dusk, when the insects are most active. Use knock-down sprays in rooms and netting if necessary.

Other Measures

Do not underestimate the value of vaccinations. The expatriate or business traveller should ensure that his or her immunizations against polio, diphtheria and tetanus are current. Other vaccines generally recommended for travel in the tropics are hepatitis A, hepatitis B and typhoid. Other vaccines to consider are Japanese B encephalitis, Meningococcal meningitis, rabies and yellow fever. Again, the recommendations will depend on a number of factors and should be determined by medical personnel experienced in travel medicine. The coordinator doctors at AEA can advise on your individual or company's needs.

Even the best vaccines are not infallible, and there are no vaccines for a number of ailments which may befall the traveller in the tropics. Proper caution and care in food and water selection and conscientious hygiene is often the most important preventive measure that can be taken against gastrointestinal ailments.

If possible, consume only bottled mineral water. If not, water can be purified using tablets or filters, but the simplest method is boiling. If you have to buy a non bottled drink, tea is a good choice since it is impossible to make without boiling water.

One of the most significant statistical risks for the traveller or expatriate however, is injury in a vehicle accident. Of the medical evacuations coordinated by AEA in Asia, about 30% are the result of a road accident. Specific precautions in this area will be the subject of a future issue.

Finally, though, ensure that you are adequately covered by an assistance program. It is always better to be safe than sorry.

Coastal Tennis

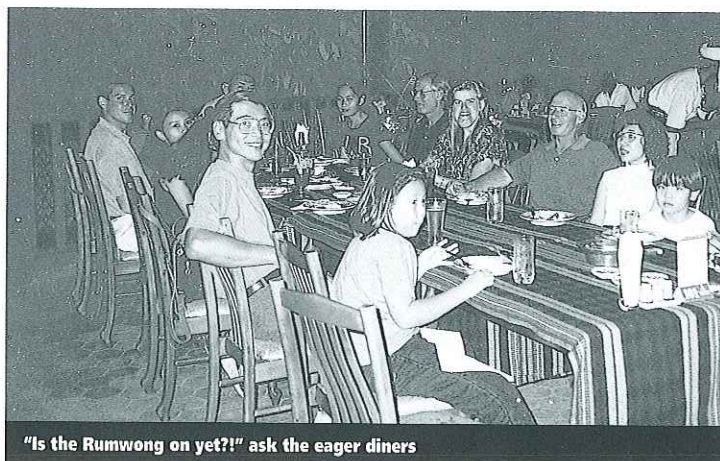

Royal Cliff Weekend, 17/18 August

Thanks to Jaree, Charmaine and Bruce for this pleasant break from the Brown Blanket, with even some tennis thrown in for good measure. Saturday was leisurely passed poolside welcoming the late arrivals, but ostensibly this was a men's tennis weekend so by 3pm a strong-ish men's round robin was underway. There was a ladies' something-or-other which might also have been a round robin had everyone been there: some never left the poolside, newcomers Trish and Natalie sweated it out against Jeab, Wan, Kip, Mem and Nui, Jaree and Charmaine were seen scooting poolwards after one game and not seen again until twilight while Gaynor lost a brand new can of balls over the practice wall while trying to remember what a tennis racquet looked like.

Meanwhile the men battled away. The men's pairings had been deviously compiled over a watermelon crush or three by our resident Professor Moriarty, Bruce, with a little help from his room-mate, such that no one pair dominated the competition. The final match

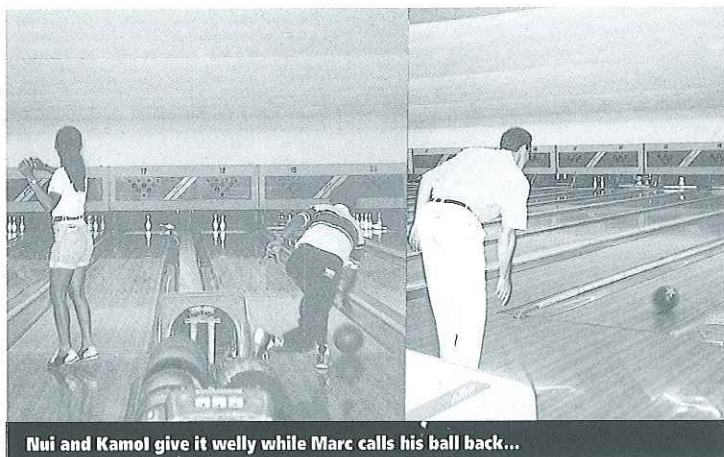

Elementary my dear Moriarty

"Is the Rumwong on yet?!" ask the eager diners was also the deciding match, which was eventually won by Mark Verheyen and David Blowers over a tiring Dick and Peter Coeshott, so well done David and Mark. The other teams were: Marc & Andrew Pickup, Kamol & Roger, and Terry Adams & Bruce "the Underarm" Gordon in place of a tardy Vorathep. The tournament was held in great humour, especially on the 'centre court' (the one nearest the female spectators), although the sea air tended to blur the vision in the vicinity of the lines in some cases.

Social Secretaries Bruce and Gaynor organised the masses for a delicious dinner at the Thai House and the inevitable rumwong, for which Wan and Bruce bravely wafted the flag for the Club, and then onto Pattaya Bowl to knock skittles for six, or is it ten, at which we were joined by the Kamol clan and the Pick-ups. However, all that exertion started to tell on most and by midnight it was a stalwart fivesome who made it to the infamous Marine Disco, a study in human deviation and the bass capabilities of modern speakers, boogying into the wee hours with the ladies-or-were-they-men-of-the-night.

Sunday morning was scheduled as an 8am start, but Bruce, banking on the experience of the standard tardy Sunday morning match turnout, was confident that no one would make it at that unearthly hour and slept in. However, on turning up at the courts at 9am, he found everybody waiting for him, unable to play until he turned up since, save a couple of resourceful bods, Bruce had all the balls! Indeed, some players were already heading towards the pool having played since 8am! Of course, no one believed that he rises naturally at 6am...

Sunday morning was a casual mix-in and was much enjoyed by all, especially as it was slightly overcast by midday instead of scorching like Saturday. Indeed it started to spit in the afternoon, prompting many to head back to the Big Noodle early. All in all, a most enjoyable weekend. And it must go down in writing that Bruce was witnessed falling asleep after five minutes of watching "Sins of the Night", the hotel blue movie!!

August Home Match v. Volvo Club

At my age the memory plays tricks, so I was already doubting my conviction that we'd played Volvo last year at home and, more importantly, won when no one, not even team members, could remember such a feat; nor was there any account in past Outposts.

However, a guest player on that day saved me by vividly describing the match (and especially the rare victory) so it's not me who's going senile around here!

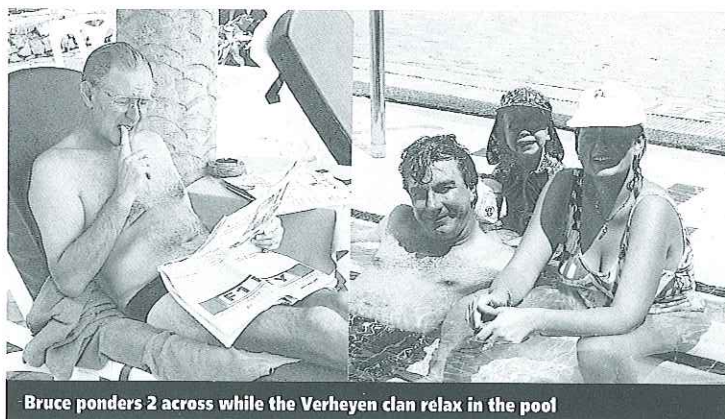

Ah yes, the match; I'd almost forgotten.

Well for a change we had a surfeit of names resulting in an oversize team and an oversize headache for yours truly. To compound matters it rained and in spite of my best endeavours, a certain Sunday lethargy prevented an early start. The result being an overall loss of two hours. Additionally, due to an oversight brought about by "certain goings on in the kitchen", no preparations had been made for the match or the meal. Your man was now panicking. However, I needn't have worried as the secret of how to triumph in the face of overwhelming adversity was revealed by the "Hon" Barry and his redoubtable assistant Kn Chirachada, who miraculously produced the rabbit out of the hat in the form of a delicious buffet.

Oh yes, the match.

With such a large team, we played the first to 6 games with tie break at 5 all. This format saved the day by allowing the maximum number of games to be played, 31 in all, so ensuring that virtually all players achieved their allotted 3 matches, with many matches going to tie breaks.

Notable pairings were those of James with Surin, Chalathip and David in perhaps his best win of the day. Roger won all his three variously with Dick and Wan. Surin and Kip also scored a notable victory in the mixed doubles and Kip did it again partnering Dick so winning all of her 3 matches. This girl shows promise!

Bruce ponders 2 across while the Verheyen clan relax in the pool

Our ladies made rather heavy weather of their matches losing overall by 3 to 7. However, on the bright side it is possible to see significant improvements in some players and I'm sure that we shall soon be seeing this reflected in the results. The men lost by 4 matches to 7 and the mixed doubles by 3 to 7, giving an overall result of 21 to 10 in favour of Volvo.

Due to the delays, many matches went on till nearly 2pm which caused hiccups for those with follow-on courts booked but in the main they graciously agreed to carry forward their bookings. However, for future matches, courts should be booked through to 2pm to avoid embarrassment.

All in all the event could be considered a reasonable success in spite of it being yet another loss to the BC. This was perhaps underlined by Volvo's proposal for a return match on 1st December at their grounds, when it is hoped that BC will put forward a rather more powerful team to restore our rather battered image.

The Mouth Turns 40

HongKong Bank League

After four pre-season victories and success in the opening game, the BC have struggled to maintain the winning ways. Four straight defeats now mean that the BC languish very near the relegation zone. The main problem jury is not too serious. However, it is not smudged make-up as suspected, he has two fractures of his right ankle. We wish him well and hope he recovers quickly.

Fixtures

Whilst the HongKong Bank League is drawing to a close there are still several matches remaining:

23 November-Hong Kong Football - Cup and Saucer Trophy

8/9 December-Alternative tour to replace cancelled Chiang Mai 10's

New Players

In the recent month several new players have arrived:

Mark Price - Full Back who has trouble with tackles in the centre. Nice wife and good Italian voice.

has been maintaining a regular side during the holiday period when many families return to Europe.

11 August Navy 17 - 0 BC

18 August Corsairs 19 - 0 BC

25 August Police 25 - 5 BC

8 September BC 7 - 17 Southerners

However, the competition itself has been a great success which has ensured the survival of rugby in Thailand.

Injuries

All those players who joked and guffawed at Dominic Whiting as he winged and wined when he was carried from the field against the Southerners will be pleased to know his in-

Brian Evans - Towering no. 8 who prefers to sleep outdoors (e.g. Graham Atkinson's party).

Ziggy Bonard and Momo Brissy - Unknown friends of Alec who evidently played for Switzerland... the whole thing sounds a bit dubious to me!

Marius Schoeman - South African back rower who does not need the oars.

The Mouth

On 1 November 1996 our revered Chairman is celebrating his 40th birthday with a rugby weekend. He has been heard to call it an "extravaganza" and by the star players invited it does seem that way. On Friday 1st, the weekend kicks off with a pre-match meeting of players in order to "get to know each other again". Venue to be arranged. But I am sure the Chair himself could give you details. Saturday 2nd, the day of the Mother of All Games, the players meet at the Chairman's house (does his wife know, I wonder? - M) for cookies and tea and pre-match fitness talk. They will then be transported to the ground (tba), where the clash of the Titans will take place. The JG team includes past player such as Meggison, Pearson, Carling and Harrison.

Rest Between Games

On Tour-Hong Kong

There will also be some ringers. After the game there will be a celebration party for supporters and players. Venue to be announced. I know this all sounds very vague but as you may remember from tours, etc, organised by His Majestic Birthday Boy, things always fall into place with Himself. The party will go on until late into the night, that is, as long as he does not hold it in his own house as the landlord may turn off the electricity again. Don't worry, though, candles have always shed a new light on rugby players' complexions.

Next day, Sunday, if any of the stalwarts are still alive, a brunch is organised. Venue for this is known, the Chair's place on Soi 39, maps available. Just look for bodies on the road, hanging against lamp posts, bandages discarded and plaster pots parked outside the flat.

The Miracle and the Mutt!

Electic Competition for the Johnnie Walker Shield

Sponsored by Riche Monde

The venue for the Johnnie Walker Shield was Forest Hills held over the Queen's Birthday weekend, August 10th-12th. The format was played to full handicap over the 3 days, the objective being to better your own score each day. The turn out for this event was astounding. Fortunately the weather held out over the 3 days as rain was forecast. Saturday night most players arranged to meet in the hotel lobby and it was decided that a Steakhouse Restaurant was in order as it was "just down the road on the left." Well, everyone left following the car in front but almost every car ended up at a different restaurant. Still, hopefully everyone had a good look at the countryside! Sunday night we decided to eat at the Golf Course and a good night was had by all with plenty of W&W (for those not in the know thanks to Joan, that's Wine & Whisky - don't leave home without it!). Monday's golf held a nice surprise - David

Congratulations Roy (Johnnie Walker Shield)

Lamb made a HOLE IN ONE! It was also rumoured that when someone (who shall remain nameless, for personal reasons) happened upon this hole to find the marker in the hole said, "Not David Lamb! Now we'll never hear the end of this."

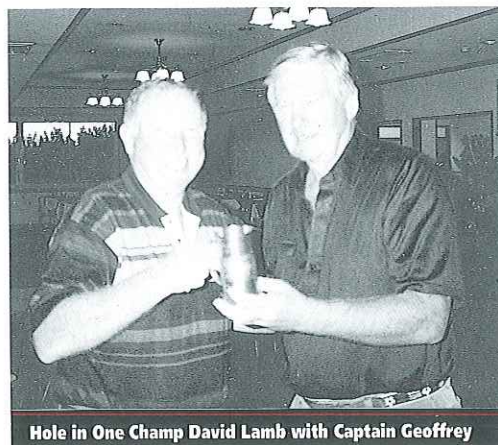

The results for the weekend are as follows:
Eclectic Winner of the Johnnie Walker Shield:
Roy Barrett (55 on handicap)
Runners-up: Bryan Dodd (55) and Don Robertson (57)

Winner: David Lamb (70)
Runners-up: Phillip Barrett (71) and Alex Southcombe (77)

Longest Putt on Hole 18: Peter Griffiths

P.S. Anyone interested in having lessons on how to sink a Hole in One please call David Lamb, I'm sure he would be only too willing to offer advice (for a fee, of course!).

Rule 19.1 (or "That Darned Dog")

Pauline Griffiths made one of her memorable tee shots on a dog-leg par four at Royal Golf Club on 25th August. Memorable on this occasion neither for the perfect line - straight down the middle, nor for the original distance travelled - around 95 yards, but for a little intervention by a marauding mutt. What followed was worthy of a scene from the Keystone Cops. With lightning speed the mongrel pounced on the ball and with it firmly grasped in its drooling jaws off it loped at a steady gait. Pauline, not known for her turn of speed, was soon left far behind while Peter, her hero, continued the chase. First this side of the fairway, then the other; next behind a tree then into the rough. Just like his golf game, really! With furred umbrella at shoulder height he launched the missile at Olympian speed at the rear end of the fleeing canine. Thud went the broolly as it found its mark, yelp went the critter, plop went the ball. Now the predicament. Dog and ball, plus pursuers, had made considerable yardage towards the green. "Good," thought Pauline, "I may be on in two!" No, thought her exhausted opponent. Out came the rule book. Rule 19.1 - Ball in Motion Deflected or Stopped By Outside Agency. The long walk back. "Drop the ball as near as possible where the outside agency was when the ball came to rest." Hard luck, Pauline, another ## on your score card - but no penalty! The dog was unavailable for comment as it had fled the scene.

Medal Flight C Winner - Phil Hall

Player of the Month: David Lamb (Hole in One)

Quote of the Month: "It's just down the road on the left."

Upcoming Events

Sunday 6th October at Royal Golf against the Golfers Cocktail Lounge, teeing off at 8am; Sunday 20th October at Royal Golf 4th Medal, teeing off at 11.48am. Also Wednesday 23rd October (Chulalongkorn Day), New Members Day - details to be advised. Please put these dates in your diaries now, the sign up sheets are on the Golf Section noticeboard, we would love to see you there.

I'll leave you with something to ponder: "Remember, if you have to cough make sure you are down wind!"

Happy Golfing

Golf Glorious Golf

How very annoying golf tends to be

It looks very easy but it isn't for me

My knees shouldn't dip

While attempting to 'chip'

My legs not at all

If I want to hit the ball

My arms should be straight

And so should my back

When that spherical ball

I try to attack

I see the trees and I see the sand

But that's not where I intend it to land

I strike it perfectly as far as I can see

And guess what, matey? It shoots off OB

Samui Smiles

The arrival of Tracey, Nicola (9) and Danielle (5) Addy in Bangkok for a summer holiday from the UK coincided with the circular letter from the British Club on behalf of the Telegraph Colour Library of London, an international photographic agency. After provisional enquiries with Tom Bain, the girls went along on 10th July for an interview at the BC with Art Director Trudie Easton and freelance photographer Maureen Barrymore. A few days later confirmation was received that they were to be flown to Koh Samui for two days on a professional photographic shoot. Having landed safely at Samui Thursday evening, a limousine took them to the exclusive Baan Taling Ngam Hotel, part of the Mandarin Oriental Group, to rest in luxury before the first day's shoot.

At 8am Friday morning the girls were required to be ready for the hairdresser and wardrobe but we found the rest of the crew had been up since dawn. At this time formal introductions were made and we learned that the other models, two male from the USA and two British girls, had collectively worked for Giorgio Armani, Givenchy, Marks & Spencer, mail order catalogues, toiletries adverts, etc. This was a sure cue for Danielle to poke one in the eye and walk off set but we were to be surprised.

The morning continued with numerous rolls of film fired of the girls in suncream and family shots (using impossibly attractive substitute parents). After a swim break and generous lunch, it was back to work with more beachside scenes with seashells, lazing in the hammock, etc. This went well until Danielle wandered into the sea and cut her leg on coral two minutes before a solo shoot, but fortunately the panic soon passed. The adults took over at around 5pm for a beach barbecue scene whilst an early night was ordered for the girls in preparation for another 8am start. The next location was in the cliff-top swimming pool in the main hotel building, acting family scenes and children playing. Once again the real parents were diplomatically kept behind the camera. By lunchtime the scenes were finished due to a change in the weather and light, but by then their work was in the can. A portfolio of photographs are promised in the coming weeks when they have been professionally selected and printed. The library keeps these on record and they explained that such shots often end up in High Street stores, magazines, etc, for UK or even international clients. We shall have to see, but in the meantime we can reflect on, as they say, sanuk.

Calypso Cuisine!

Can you imagine Barry with coconut boobs?

Well, that was one of the treats in store for those who attended the Club's first Caribbean food promotion. The other staff were also dressed for the occasion in plastic grass skirts and looked amazingly authentic!

Diners were welcomed with a complimentary Blue Lagoon cocktail to set them in the right mood for a balmy Caribbean night in the specially decorated Lords Restaurant.

The buffet was excellent, as usual Barry and staff did an exceptional job and people were able to feast on numerous Caribbean favourites such as dilled prawns in a smoked fish blanket, melon salad, baked papaya with beef and lamb filling, Caribbean coriander chicken, ginger pork and curried mango, tropical fresh fruit salad and mango cream.

As the promotion was so successful we are hoping to have another Caribbean food promotion in the not too distant future. However, all you lovers of Italian food take note: the next food promotion will feature Italian cuisine and will be held on Friday 8th and Saturday 9th November, with a cost of Bt 300 for adults and Bt 150 for children 12 and under.

Tribute to the late Christian Adams 1939-1996

Following the Memorial Service held at Christ Church on Thursday 22nd August:

A greater Ambassador there has never been
Who served his country and his queen
As he walked across this fair land
People were proud to shake his hand
His caring children and loving wife
Played a great role throughout his life
We salute you, Christian, on this sad day
And thank the Lord that you passed our way

Returning Hospitality

Dear Gaynor,

It is 50+ years since I first came to Bangkok, as an RNVR Officer from UK (after five and a half years of war service at home, in the Middle East, the Indian Ocean and South Africa) via Operation "Zipper", Rangoon and HMS NITH.

During much of the subsequent time I have enjoyed the facilities of the Club - as a member for six years from 1951-7 when Ann and I were here with Shell (and I was one of Maurice Lamb's predecessors as Convenor for both bridge and tennis) and over the last 15-20 years as a reciprocal member, thanks to the arrangements which I put in train during the days of John Davis. I little thought then that I should continue to make annual visits for so much longer!

I have received a great deal of very much appreciated hospitality from my many Club friends and would be very happy to repay some of it in my capacity as a Retirement Counsellor. This is something that I got involved in after retiring from Shell in 1977, when I had been Head of Group Retirement Benefits - "Mr Pensions" for short. I was a temporary part-time member on the staff of the Centre for International Briefing, Farnham Castle, and ran several Pre-Retirement Courses there in the early 80's (no doubt a number of members - and their wives - will have been on courses there at an earlier stage in their careers!).

If anyone (friend or across-the-bridge-table/tennis-net-foe) has a problem, general or specific, about pensions - and it need not be only a UK matter - I shall be very glad to help them if I can and let them have the benefit of my advice and experience. This is offered to members completely free, with no strings attached, as all the work that I do nowadays is voluntary and unremunerative - it never ceases to surprise me how busy I always seem to be!

Incidentally, I was part-author of the recently up-dated History of Christ Church: "Spiritual Oasis", and shall be pleased to autograph copies of it; Baht 200 from Christ Church or I can bring copies to the Club.

I expect to be around the Club in October 1996, so anyone interested can drop me a line c/o The British Club and I will collect from the pigeon hole.

Yours sincerely,

Peter Norman

Note: Peter is a reciprocal member from the Naval Club in London, and uses the Club for one month per year.

WIFE ASSURANCE!

No spelling mistake at all. Wives are almost universally undervalued when it comes to considering life assurance for family protection.

What if.....?

A female life, non-smoker, aged 30 next birthday, requiring £100,000 of cover would normally pay only £11.52 per month for fifteen years of protection.

That's less than 500 baht.

September's Solution

From the Chairman

I reckon most of you will have returned from your holidays by now so may I say that I hope that you all had a good time.

Those of you who have been away will find a few things progressed since you were last at the Club. The hard tennis courts have been resurfaced and now look really smart, the Club now subscribes to IBC as well as all the other TV choices available and, of course, the new access gates and drivers' restroom are nearly complete.

Dugal Forrest - Chairman

Regarding our new gates and what they will mean to the membership, the most important point is that we have discovered that new membership cards will be required by everyone, not just a few as originally hoped. Although this may cause some of you a little inconvenience, I would ask you all to cooperate with the Club as much as possible so the changeover may be accomplished with the minimum of hassle. Also, please be aware that, once everything is up and running and everyone has had ample opportunity to obtain new cards, those who have failed to do so will find gaining access to the Club a bit more bothersome than before. The ultimate aim is to improve security and tighten control over access to the Club. Some unfortunate events at the Club over the last couple of months have underscored the desirability of these improvements and I hope that once everything is in place such occurrences will become a thing of the past.

We have started a new Member-Get-Member drive, this time awarding vouchers for Lords Restaurant based upon a draw at each New Members Night. The first draw was held at the September New Members Night and the lucky winner was Trish Haywood. The Club always needs new members - so keep 'em coming!

As most of you will be aware by now, Her Majesty the Queen and Prince Philip will be visiting Thailand later this month. Regrettably, however, we have been advised that they will not have time to visit the Club. I should like to take this opportunity, therefore, on behalf of the Club, its staff and membership, to wish them a warm welcome and an enjoyable and successful visit.
